FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JBAB TO PARTICIPATE IN NAVY-WIDE TRAINING EXERCISE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30, 2015 – Joint Base Anacostia-Bolling (JBAB) will participate in the United States Fleet Forces Command annual anti-terrorism, force protection exercise Solid Curtain-Citadel Shield (SC-CS15) 2015, Feb. 2-13.

This exercise is designed to prepare and test security and emergency response forces, as well as JBAB command, control, and communications infrastructures during critical incidents on the installation, said Tim Trammell, JBAB director of future operations.

During the exercise, base personnel and residents may hear announcements or warning sirens over the JBAB Emergency Warning System and see messages on JBAB social media websites. All personnel and base visitors can also expect increased security measures implemented at entry control points during various events, which will be conducted throughout the two-week exercise. Traffic re-routing and possible traffic delays may occur in specific exercise locations.

Exercise SC-CS15 is not in response to any specific threat, but is a regularly scheduled exercise. The exercise will consist of roughly 130 simultaneous field training exercise attacks across the country, each designed to test different regional anti-terrorism force protection operations.

All JBAB personnel, residents and visitors are asked to be patient throughout the exercise as it is a vital part of maintaining mission readiness, and it contributes to the overall safety of the JBAB Community.
